

ComputerEdge Magazine is alive and well Online in Colorado

ComputerEdge Magazine has been established and widely read in the Denver area for over 10 years, and is now available online only. Our beloved weekly magazine is for YOU – the average computer user. It's filled with feature articles and columns that touch on all aspects of personal computing. And, it has been used in many beginner and intermediate computer classrooms for years.

All levels of computer users can benefit from ComputerEdge's easy-to-read and easy-to-understand feature articles and columns – such as Digital Dave, a question-and-answer column from our resident guru; Mac Madness, for all those who “think different,” Linux Links, where Linux lovers come to share insight; and Back to Basics, which explains ordinary, everyday computer jargon.

In addition to the great editorial, ComputerEdge is expanding its Calendar of Events to include what's happening in all of Colorado. You'll also find Directory of Services, User Group Listings, and Local Web Links that serve your neighborhood.

Sign up for an online subscription now. Every Friday, you'll get ComputerEdge delivered right to your computer. Just go to www.computoredge.com, choose Colorado edition, and click on Online Subscription.
